BADBIR Centre Update: St George's Hospital

During 2014 St George's Hospital had a few months without recruiting to the BADBIR and there was nearly a quarter of follow-ups outstanding. Following the introduction of a Clinical Trial Assistant the centre has made significant improvement with the outstanding follow-ups decreasing to just 2% and an increase in the level of recruitment. The Clinical Trial Assistant is Ella Foncel who BADBIR has found to be extremely proactive and hard working. She is a great example of how a Clinical Trial Assistant can be a great asset to the BADBIR Dermatology Team, not only performing data entry but actively working to recruit patients and ensuring the BADBIR follow-ups are kept on track. We asked Ella to briefly describe what work she does for BADBIR:

Ella Foncel (Clinical Trial Administrator): I recently joined the St. George's Clinical Research Facility in September 2014 as a Clinical Trials Assistant. BADBIR was one of the first studies I began working on, alongside the clinical Dermatology team. I am primarily responsible for the data management aspect of the study, ensuring timely submission of complete, good quality data. I also attend patient baseline and follow-up visits to assist with data collection.

Like myself, the team were all fairly new after a period of high staff turnover and we faced many challenges regarding the maintenance of the database, a significant amount of missed visits/follow-ups and a major halt in recruitment. The team were keen to get things back on track so we agreed upon a new work flow with the aim of regaining study momentum and kick-starting recruitment.

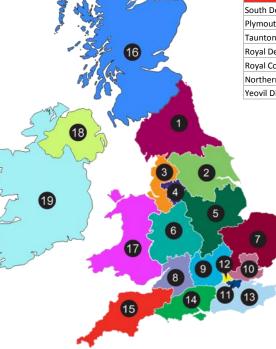

After a few weeks of hard work and team effort we have begun recruiting again, all missed visits have now been entered on the database and follow-up visits are being completed and entered in a timely manner. We could not have achieved this without the constant support and never-ending patience of the BADBIR team (apologies again for the daily barrage of emails!).
