BADBIR CLRN Newsletter

June 2012

Welcome to the third edition of the BADBIR CLRN Newsletter.

Most of the centres involved with the BADBIR have some form of support towards the study from the CLRN.

BADBIR CRAs

Clinical research associates have recently come into post in 3 areas of the UK. If your hospital is within this region then you will be contacted soon to discuss how the CRA can help with BADBIR recruitment and follow-up

Q&A with CLRN nurse at Salford Royal Infirmary

Research nurse Kerry Williams has been working on the BADBIR study at Salford Royal Infirmary, Tameside Hospital and Fairfield Hospital, Bury since October 2011. Since then Salford has been the highest recruiter to the register almost every month averaging at about 13 patients per month.

Kerry has trebled recruitment at Salford, doubled recruitment at Tameside and initiated recruitment at Fairfield Hospital, Bury.

How do you find eligible patients?

In order to find eligible patients I look at all the dermatology clinics each week and target the clinics in which potential patients are most likely to be seen. I check the clinic lists for these clinics and look at the patient's last clinic letter. As well as looking for patients who have started a new systemic treatment in the last 6 months I'll look for signs in the letter that they could be starting or switching treatments in the near future e.g. if current treatment is ineffective or causing side effects.

Is there anything else that helps?

I make myself visible to the doctors and nurses in the department and maintain good working relationships with them. I attend the weekly biologic screening clinic and ask the specialist nurse to refer the patient to me after the consultation. I attend the weekly psoriasis clinic and remind the doctors and nurses in the clinic what I'm looking for.

How do you approach the patients and recruit them?

The main concern of a lot of the patients is how much of their time it will require. Therefore I make sure that the patient knows the study will not involve them attending any extra appointments. I give the patient the information to read through and talk to them about the study, making sure that they have plenty of opportunity to ask any questions.

How do you help with follow ups?

I check the clinic lists for the week for any BADBIR patients and use the database to check if their follow up is due. I will check their previous follow up (or baseline if this will be their first follow up) on the database and check with the patient if any adverse events recorded are ongoing/resolved and confirm with them that their concomitant medications are still as listed on the database. I will do their waist and weight measurements if these are outstanding from the notes as well as a DLQI and PASI as required. I will give the patient their follow up questionnaires to complete and speak with the patient and their clinician and check the notes for any adverse events that have occurred in the last 6 months.
